1. Carlos Castillo Armas, who has been living in Colombia since he took refuge in the Colombian Embassy after his escape from the hospital of the jail in Guatemala City, and his subsequent safe conduct out of the country, stated to a group of friends that he had heard from Luis Coronado Lira in El Salvador.
2. According to Castillo Armas, Coronado Lira was urging him to return to Central America, in view of the projected resumption of diplomatic relations between Guatemala and Nicaragua. Coronado Lira suggested Honduras as a possible meeting place. Castillo Armas did not indicate whether he intended to adopt the suggestion of Coronado Lira and meet him in Honduras, and was still reportedly in Colombia on 17 September 1951.
